Well it's important i'm reminded
Sitting home alone in silence
Then you came to make things better
Started with this stormy weather
But I don't find myself deserving
And when I do it's so unnerving
Think i'll wait just as expected
Wait for you to clear this mess up

The silence helps
Instead of talking
The quiet walls are more help
Than a friend could be
'Cause they can't see the things I see

Things have got a chance to get much better
All i've got to do is go forget her
Throw away all of my thoughts inside me
But after all
What kind of life would that be?

Another day of people calling
Another day of me ignoring
I just can't stand the pointless calls
They drive me up and down the walls
I'm searching for the strength to eat
I'd rather drink, fall off my seat
Now there's a feeling, hard to beat
I told you that my life's complete

Now here's a picture I always see
I see her hand in hand with me
And guess who's in there when I dream
Of course it's always me and...
There comes a point in someones life
When it's the time to take a dive
Image stands, forever shines
I'm glad to say that she is mine

Things have got a chance to get much better
All i've got to do is go forget her

Throw away all of my thoughts inside me
But after all
What kind of life would that be? (x3)
