Title: Stand around

Stand around, stand around
Let me be the bean
Stand around, stand around
I know, I feel

This might not be a dream to me
When I get home and watch you bleed
The scars come down and grab my clothes
That life should be so low

Stand around, stand around
Tell me what you see
A kind of frowns that stand around
Gets low, get real

This might not be a dream to me
When I get home I'll watch you bleed
The scars come down and grab my clothes
That life should be so cold

Cos everyday I get so fed up
And I'm bruising up with my plans
And I don't wanna make a false engagements
With the man from the Promised Land

This might not be a dream to me
When I get home I'll watch you bleed
The scars come down and grab my clothes
You are the same, the one who's in you brain
Is only fooling don't you know

Stand around, stand around for me
