I try so hard, I don't know what to do
I'm gonna lose my mind if I can't have you
The brake lights are on and nobody's home
I hear you talking on the telephone
And my baby has the blues again
And somehow they just seem to hit him

And I'm breaking up again
With another long term boyfriend

And I believe that you're leaving
And I believe, you're already gone
You're already gone

If you can't find love, you've gotta find a method
Of learning to live in the world today
I don't know what it was that I expected
I guess, I'm a fool to want perfection

And I'm breaking up again
With another long term boyfriend

And I believe that you're leaving
And I believe you're already gone
I better believe what I'm seeing
'Cause I believe that it's so long
It's so long

I try so hard, I don't know what to do
It's obvious, I won't end up with you
The brake lights are on and it's so clear
You can't pretend, you wanna be here
And this train of thought has arrived at the station
We don't need anymore contemplation

And I'm breaking up again
With another long term boyfriend

And I'm breaking up again
With another long term boyfriend

Breaking up
