Back down the miles we traveled, turning rocks for air
to breath
Folding every corner, finding something to believe

Whatever makes you happy,
Dont hang around
You should live your life.
But life is lust, I need to know:

Was it better than me?
When you say your sorry, what was in your head?
This time you'll be coming back for more
Maybe in time you'll be coming back for more

Maybe in time you'll Speak the things that really mattered
Faith in truth from honesty,
Digging every detail of what it really meant to me
We'll cast the feelings away
All of this 'he said' and 'she said'
Love is supposed to find a way.

Its obsolete,
Im feeling like a stalemate,
Burning bridges like a drama queen

Was it better than me?
Don't fucking say you're sorry, what was in your head?
This time you'll be coming back for more
Maybe in time you'll be coming back for more

Starting over,
Back to the boards like I never met you.
Its hard living life when you're
Starting over,
Back to the day that I never knew you.

'Cause life is lust, we need to know
We know this love is not forever
Mistakes we made will last a lifetime

Maybe to say you're sorry.
