Another sunrise over the ocean
With the transit of youth underneath my feet
We took the past and scattered the ashes
Oh, the future's taken a hold of me

Do you remember when we were younger?
As a child, is this what you had dreamed to be?
The revolution in animation
When the future's taken a hold of me

We're starting over, we're starting over again
It's been so long
Come on now take it from the top

She said "I love you, but if you leave me
Then I'll find someone who gives me what I need,
And if you follow another footsteps then
You'll find the end of you and me"

Things are gonna change
I said things were gonna change
But I know your head's gonna keep its files so vagrantly arranged
