I'm close enough to know you're near
But not enough to make it real
Have I become like all the others here?
A ruin in the deepest of all fears

Before I had a chance to look
You went and turned your back for good
Don't act as if it's understood
When it only takes one look

At the crater, where we once stood
I don't know what we will become
I just know that I'm not the one
Yeah, I know that I'm not the one
That you're looking for

I hope that I can go without
Someone else will have to guide you now
That can only break a spirit down
Guided by a goal you never found

Somewhere in the back looms
A kitchen that's become her own tomb
On the wall, I watch the shadow of her figure
Floating 'round the room
'Til she hits the lights and is gone from view

I don't know what we will become
I just know that I'm not the one
Yeah, I know that I'm not the one
That you're looking for
Yeah, I know that I'm not the one
That you're looking for
