[Verse 1 - Rikoshay]

dozens of wonderful flows but am I livin comfortable no still tryin to turn my love into doh the best I know this is a non-profit I'm tryin to put some money in my mom's pockets and genuine motives lead to genuine moments I put my soul in a song and sold it right out the trunk of my car your pat on the back is no comfort at all see I'm lookin at this hour glass no time for a good night sleep just a power nap set my watch a few minutes fast so I'm ahead of my time in more than just rhymes but look this isn't about my ego I'm nothin without my people you created this verse I'm just holdin it down with the weight of my words

[Chorus - Natasha Waterman] take the good with the bad when its all that you have gotta realize its all in the plan take the joy with the pain its kinda hard to explain cuz these tears I cry they all come down the same take the right with the wrong take the storm with the calm just take each step one by one

[Verse 2 - Rikoshay]

yo, I coulda cut corners like milk bags but I didn't though, so I will brag when my winnings grow can't feel bad when your the boss with the coner office and you pants still sag I'm doin this on my terms, fuck the prophets cut the losses if I dont have real fans you know the ones that love you from your latest hit way back to that before you made of shit

I'm not sayin I wont change a bit cause I'm growin up all I hope for is when I open up you can see that I'm still the same rikoshay that you know and love but as the glowin sun rises and falls I find that I'm fine with it all cause i'll never lose my chilish tendancies my heart will never lose the boundless energy

[Chorus]

they say the road is long before you go down that wroute look at the prose and cons on the one hand you got dreams of doin shows where everybody knows your songs on the other hand i've seen fame bring pain to thos eits bestowed upon but on the positive tip make a couple hits my family situation flips grandmas sixty six she can finally quit it sounds nice so one problem is this I'm trapped in a conundrum how do you defeat a monster without havin to become one

[Chorus]
