So many weeks have passed by me
I'm a slave to you when my heart beats
I just want to talk to you to say
That I got a case of the missing memory
Please baby put it back into place

I just want to say this again
That I want you, but I know I can't

So many dreams I sleep awake
I'm a mess even when you call believe me
I just want to take this all away
With a case of the missing memory
Please baby put it back into place

I just want to say this again
That I want you, but I know I can't
And I just want to say this again
That I miss you, but I know I can't

I can't
I know exactly how you feel
I know the both of us have changed
And gone against our will
We know that we won't live like this forever
And we don't speak unless we're spoken to
You don't want to tell me
Cause you're afraid of what I'll say there's only one thing
I want to say again that I want you but I know I can't
And I know that I want to say this again

I just want to say this again
That I want you, but I know I can't
And I want to say this again
That I miss you, but I know I can't

But I know I can't

I just want to talk to you to say
