

Turning The Tides

"The Misled"

Visit "The Misled" on MotoLyrics.com

I remember the first time I saw your face.
It was right here, right in this place.
And this might be wrong of me to say
But I will never be okay.

Why? We always ask why.
Shattered dreams, false hope. It's all the same.
How could such a soul be so misleading?
Nothing to trust. A horrible feeling.
You saw the cracks in the wall, I was about to fall.

Oh, the time it took, building these walls.
They all came caving in, caving in.
And I don't know where to go from here.
All I know is that I need you here.

We always search for something more than this.
We all keep sinking into the abyss.

TURN THESE FUCKING TIDES.

It's always brighter on the other side
Now let's turn these fucking tides.
It's always brighter on the other side
Now let's turn these fucking tides.

Oh, the time it took, building these walls.
They all came caving in, caving in.
And I don't know where to go from here.
All I know is that I need you here.

Visit Turning The Tides page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.