You're just a memory maker
I'm the giver and you're the taker
I never could resist your charms
You're just a memory maker
An old heart breaker
But memories can't fill my arms

You took my kisses one by one
And then wipe them off when you were done
You took the love I gave to you
Then walked away when you were through

You're just a memory maker

I gave me heart without a fear
Believing that you were sincere
The way you looked into my eyes
How could I know you told me lies

You're just a memory maker
