This time's the next time, I warned you the first time
The next time's the last time, so this time we're through You wasted your next time 'cause this time's the last time
There'll be no more next time, darling, for you

You spent too much bear time in the shadows of night
time
So honey, it's about time I found someone new
How you find a new past time before it's too late time
Then I won't have time to cry over you

You spent too much bear time in the shadows of night
time
So honey, it's about time I found someone new
How you find a new past time before it's too late time
Then I won't have time to cry over you
