Don't build for me no paper mansions that only stand until you're gone
You paint the nicest futures of anyone I know You always leave me holding on to pretty words that glow You've built a thousand mansions out of dreams that seem so strong
But they're always made of paper not of stone Don't build for me no paper mansions that I can never call my own
For love can't live in paper mansions that only stand until you're gone
[steel]
You've always been a dreamer dear and I'm a dreamer too
But I guess I've had too many of the kind that don't come true
So don't build me no mansions with paper walls so thin
That only stand until you're gone again Don't build for me...
