She's in so much pain
I wish I could take it all away
She deserves a break she is good
She's lost more than any one person should

God please hold her tonight
And take away the loneliness that she is left with
She is left with no other hope but you
They say you hold the world in your hands
Please hear my prayer tonight
Drop the world and hold her.. just hold her

She believes her life is over
She's is convinced this is the end
But you can show her a better love than she has ever known
You can make her love again

God please hold her tonight
And take away the loneliness that she is left with
She is left with no other hope but you
They say you hold the world in your hands
Please hear my prayer tonight
Drop the world and hold her

I wish I could turn back time
Or even make it fly to any time
And now, now she hurts so much
Well you could be enough Lord
You are enough to take away the loneliness that she is left with
She is left with no other hope but you
They say you hold the world in your hands
Please hear my prayer tonight
Drop the world just run to her
Drop the world just hold her
