

Warren Brothers "Little Saviour of Brooklyn"

Visit "Little Saviour of Brooklyn" on MotoLyrics.com

Little Savior of Brooklyn
Pays 'em for her coffee
With a million dollar smile
She dances on the corner to a blind man playing Elvis
And even when its raining
They always draw a crowd

She shines, like the heavens
She hides, her heart from harder times
She flies, rising up above the shadows
in you, in me, she lives, she breathes

Never heard her pray to Jesus
But theres a cross that hangs discretely
In the cleavage of her dress
She always smells vinilla
Even when shes smokin'
Shes distracting and beautiful
She could not care less

She shines, like the heavens
She hides, her heart from harder times
She flies, rising up above the shadows
in you, in me, she lives, she breathes
She shines

Little Savior of Brooklyn
Leads the going home parade
Buys a flower for herself
She welcomes every sunset
With a candle in the window
She wont forget the past
But shes great full for whats left

Visit Warren Brothers page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.