And it really doesn't matter what you say or what you do

After many years of being oh-so close, it's over

I know you know, I know

Now that I'm out in the cold with the lonely people

Darling, darling, darling, darling, darling

I never thought that I could feel so all alone

Cos I will be whatever I should be, for you

I know you know, I know

Now that I'm out in the cold with the lonely people

Darling, darling, darling, darling, darling

You know it hurts me so, to be so all alone

And though it's dark around us, I can see love in your eyes

I've covered all the angles, nothing will be a surprise

Cos I know that you know, I know you know

That everything is better in the morning

You've got to say that I, say that I

I'm really out of place

Oh, I know I'm a lucky boy

Now that I'm out in the cold with the lonely people

Darling, darling, oh darling, darling, darling

It leaves me cold to think, it's after all these years

You hear they tell me something, I can see that in your
eyes

And though I've covered all the angles, will it still be a surprise
