

Rutherford Mike

"Moonshine"

Visit "Moonshine" on MotoLyrics.com

And I feel like the night is closing - I know it is Do you feel it burning in my blood
Burning in my blood like it's setting me fire.
And I feel like a cloud is closing in - I know it is
As I slip into a hazy crazy world - I know I am
Sooner or later moonshine in my brain
Turning me around till there's madness in the air.
Turning water into wine, till there's nothing left to burn
Courage deserted me tonight.
And in the moments that I have when peace is all around
I can see clearly now, and what I see
There's your world and there's mine
There's so little in between
But listen my love
We will never know which one of us has got it right.
Coz baby the things I do are hurting everyone
I know they are. I've got to try to find the door
Sooner or later it will turn me inside out
Begone all those who would torment me
I've an answer for you now.

And I'm glad it's not late to give it up - I know it's not
All I need's a year or two to rearrange - to rearrange
I can feel it burning in my blood
Turning me around till there's madness in the air.
Turning water into wine, till there's nothing left to burn
Courage deserted me tonight.
And in the moments that I have when peace is all around
I can see clearly now, and what I see
There's your world and there's mine
There's so little in between
But listen my love
We will never know which one of us has got it right.
Turning water into wine, till there's nothing left to burn
Courage deserted me tonight.
Turning water into wine, till there's nothing left to burn
Courage deserted me tonight

Visit Rutherford Mike page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.