"Never Bloom Again"

Lighting struck, now it's silent and dark
Like to try to light a candle
But for that I'd need a spark

Our luck changed, don't know why
Don't know when
But it changed, and now it's hard
Not to dwell on memories

I know we'll grow, but we'll never bloom again
I'm sure we'll grow, but we'll never bloom again

Now it's cold on my side of the bed
Though you're near, you're far away
Partly here, partly gone

Our luck changed, I don't know why
Don't know when, I wonder where we would end up
If we could start again

I know we'll grow, but we'll never bloom again
I'm sure we'll grow, but we'll never bloom again

I know we'll grow, but we'll never bloom again
I'm sure we'll grow, but we'll never bloom again
