There's something wrong there's a chill in the air and the blood in my vein's running colder
The eastern sky is beginning to silver and the words that you speak start to falter
The seal is broken, the oath has been crossed
In the house of the dead there's a taker
Some say that this is the ultimate sin
When the spirit world turns to the alter
There's been a kill in the spirit world
There's been a kill in the spirit world Behold the dead clutching at fading hands, out of reach forever
"In glory die" calls the voice of the void
Your assassin has cursed every spectre
The seal is broken, the oath has been crossed and the house of the dead seeks a master Stretching every muscle, I wait for the end and a kiss on the wind whispers murder, Murder
There's been a kill in the spirit world
There's been a kill in the spirit world
When heaven is closer, it's pleasure and pain

Kill in the spirit world

Did you see another in black is the blood in your veins running colder

If you did then there's no turning back

As the spirit world turns to the alter

The seal is broken, the oath has been crossed and the house of the dead seeks the master

Stretching every muscle, I wait for the end

and a kiss on the wind whispers murder, Murder

There's been a kill in the spirit world

There's been a kill in the spirit world

Oh here it comes, oh no

The seal is broken, The eastern sky is beginning to silver

There's something wrong, there's a chill in the air

I feel the evil, I feel the evil

Somebody whispers murder

A kiss on the wind whispers murder
