If there isn't light when no one sees then how can I know what you might believe?
A story told that can't be real somehow must reflect the truth we feel, yeah Fade away, fade away vanish into small Fade away, fade away
break the crystal ball - OH!
It's the sign feels like the time!
On a small world, west of wonder somewhere, nowhere all There's a rainbow that will shimmer when the summer falls
If an echo darts in dancer when it hears a certain song Then the beast is free to wander but never is seen around And it's the Sign of the Southern Cross it's the Sign of the Southern Cross all right

sail away

to the sign

ohh

From the book, the word is spoken

whispers from forgotten psalms

Gather all around the young ones

they will make us strong

Reach above your dreams of pleasure given life to those who died

Look beyond your own horizons sail the ship of signs

And it's the Sign of the Southern Cross

it's the Sign of the Southern Cross

break the crystal ball

Fade away, fade away

I can't accept it anymore

On a real world, west of wonder

somewhere, nowhere all

There's a rainbow, see it shimmer

when the summer falls

whispers from forgotten psalms

they will make us strong!

It's the Sign of the Southern Cross

It's the Sign of the Southern Cross

Don't live for pleasure make life your treasure

Fade away!

Eight miles high, about to fall and no one there to catch you look for the sign, the time the Sign of the Southern Cross, yeah
