I want to reach out and touch the sky

I want to touch the sun

but I don't need to fly

I'm gonna climb up every mountain of the moon

And find a distant man a-waving his spoon

I've crossed the ocean, turned every bend

I found the crossing near a golden rainbow's end

I've been through magic and through life's reality

I've lived a thousand years and it never bothered me

Got no religion, don't need no friends

Got all I want and I don't need to pretend

Don't try to reach me, 'cause I'd tear up your mind

I've seen the future and I've left it behind
