I've always known her face to have a smile
When I reflect every once in a while
To what it would be like to know what she knows
See the world through her eyes stumbling strong

Round up all your
Round up all your young ones
Let me know you're here

Her bones sick 'cause she knows she hasn't long
'Cause they're gunning down her story and her song together

Round up all your
Round up all your young ones
Let me know you're here

Oh you're a silly boy but you're mine
You're my favorite one of the five
Oh you're a silly boy but you're mine

And the voices of all are never lost forever
They're remembered by the faces and the places
Floating high above us all
We shall repeat

So hear me God I'm tired my heart is sad
And from where the sun stands now I'll fight no more forever

Round up all your
Round up all your young ones
Let me know you're here

Oh you're a silly boy but you're mine

And the voices of all are never lost forever
They're remembered by the faces and the places
Floating high above us all
We shall repeat
