The space in my mind is too small for You
The space in my heart is too small for You too
And all of things of the earth that i know
Are too small for all of the greatness You've shown
But in all of this i'm still facing my needs
And i'm scared of how big they feel to me
I know You, You, You are big enough to hold me
I know You, You, You are big enough to hold me
I know You Lord, yeah You
Will carry me through
The space between stars is billions of miles
The space for the famous and millions of eyes
But not all of the stars in the heavens and earth
None can compare to Your infinite worth
And i still get lonely and wonder outloud
If anyone notices me in a crowd
I know You, You, You are big enough to hold me
I know You, You, You are big enough to hold me
I know You Lord, yeah You
Will carry me through
I know You, You, You are big enough to hold me
I know You, You, You are big enough to hold me
I know You Lord, yeah You
Will carry me through
How great, how high
How deep, how wide
Is Your love
The space in my mind is too small for You
The space in my heart is too small for You too
And all of things of the earth that i know
Are too small for all of the greatness You've shown
But in all of this i'm still facing my needs
And i'm scared of how big they feel to me
Nothing can separate from the love of Christ
All my doubts, He sees past and things to come
