Music: White, Keyser

Lyrics: White

Human influence shapes human thought

Few question, few answer, praising innovation

Society seeking conformity

Society thriving on regulation

Observe and repeat, observe and repeat

Maintain the standard

Life is simulation, revision and impulse

Absence through presence

Still there is crime, still there is defiance

Conscious and manner scream for diversion

Controlled by confusion, confused by control

Control and Resistance

Control and Resistance

Control and Resistance

At an early age you were forced into submission

By your elders and school administration

By your peers you are pressed to Resist

And pressed into rebellion and indecision

Now you are food for the mental machine

Breeding acts of ignorance and despair

Men plotting their own demise

Through oblivion, through greed, through hypocrisy

Some of us are blind, some of us are frightened

And some cynical

Contradiction, revolution, controversy, centumacy

Self-preservation and malevolence

Feed the fear of death

Law and resistance in accordance with uniformity

In the thick of the fray

Yet violence and change by privacy

By freedom, we must Resist
