I was talking to Barry who says there's a change in the air
he's just found a magic kite that can fly him anywhere He leans on his window as the trash daytime radio plays he's got all the shelter he needs, and heaven gets closer everyday

I got a postcard from Mandy; the farmers are bringing in the hay
our friends will be home in the morning, and heaven gets closer... everyday

We don't think too much about a crisis in the west because it couldn't happen here again and anyway; all men are equally blessed They say a war is coming but it all seems so far away because where we live the sun shines, and heaven gets closer everyday

in the hay
gets closer... everyday

I got a letter from London; tanks are rolling over the hay soldiers will be here in the morning, and heaven gets closer...
