Who's that man with the potion dressed in velvet and gloves Causing grief and commotion talking 'bout love
Talking 'bout love

What on earth is he thinking where on earth has he been Why do I feel like I'm sinking what does it mean
What does it mean

Let's walk through the jungle
put your arm in my arm
And should this ground start to crumble
we'll come to no harm, come to no harm

I once had a coat I was proud of I wore that coat a long time
Just when the music got loudest
Left it behind

I could pretend that I'm dreaming but one thing I just can't see Who on earth am I meaning when I say me
When I say me

Let's walk through the jungle
put your arm in my arm
And should this ground start to crumble
we'll come to no harm, come to no harm

What's around the corner
what's around the bend

What's around the corner
what's around the bend

What's around the corner

What's around the corner

Questions upon questions upon questions crowding round the side of my bed These are just a few of the best ones adrift in my head,
Adrift in my head

Who's driving this airplane?
Did I live hard enough
Is it gonna rain and how well have I loved?
How well have a I loved?

Let's walk through the jungle
Lean on me if you stumble
'neath the bright shining stars And though the whole world may crumble we know who we are, we know who we are
