"Time Apart"

I got a feeling of pain because i knew it would suck when your phone call came and you said "I've gotta talk to you.
i've thought it through.
i'm leaving you alone
and it's the hardest thing i've had to do.
I wish you well and thanks for being patient, baby.
i know you want a better explanation, maybe.
let's call it a day.
because i'm running out of things i can say anyway."

there's no debating baby, this has been hard.
It makes us stronger, maybe, this time apart. this time apart

what's supposed to be done, what am i supposed to do
when you want your space
and i just want to be close to you?
my toast to you
is leaving you alone
when it's the hardest thing i've had to do.
this is HELL,
but i'm sure it will be healthy.
we'll be better in the end.
you'll have time to think about what you want. we'll see.
but i have so much faith that what you want is me.

there's no debating baby, this has been hard.
It makes us stronger, maybe, this time apart.
no better way to see that i'm a retard,
than taking yourself away. so we can see what we've been missing.

nothing. nothing. nothing.
nothing has meaning at all.
everything. everything is so much better with you involved.

(arguing on the phone)

there's no debating baby, this has been hard.
It makes us stronger, maybe, this time apart.
no better way to see that i'm a retard, than taking yourself away.
so we can see what we've been missing.

stay bright, my light
one heart apart
divine design
give time
so we can see what we've been missing.
