

Waterdeep

"Apocalypse Now (The Non-Hollywood Version)"

Visit "Apocalypse Now \(The Non-Hollywood Version\)" on MotoLyrics.com i saw a movie on tv late last night new york city was taken by a plague but the medical authorities arrested it early how they did it was a little bit vague though just a little bit too vague for me and then my mind started turning and my hands began to sweat because i thought of how itd come out these people wouldve died faster than suicide and the plauge with consume us no doubt woah without a doubt and then i got to thinkin greatly of the things ive noticed lately how it all looks like its comin to an end and though this plague was on the screen theres real things we have seen looks like a slow trains comin round like a slow trains comin round comin round the bend

CHORUS

and you said
we'd hear of wars and rumors of wars but we shouldnt be afraid earthquake and faminie, dont cry my friend although the ax in the root of the tree has been laid for the one who endures to the end shall be saved

You know I almost want to cry when i think about the lie that were doomed and theres no way out but the dice is cast when we step out of the womb unless theres something that you can do nothing about but it all doesnt matter it really doesnt matter anyway we think its already decided that fates to be abided and deaths in the cards for us all it doesnt matter how you act and once you know how to tack someones gonna make you fall no matter, no matter who you are

oh death
wheres its sting?
there was some of us you said would never taste this
thing
oh death
wheres its sting?
there was some of us you said would never taste this
thing

CHORUS

You said we'd hear of wars and rumors of wars
but we shouldn't be afraid
earthquake and famine
don't cry my friend
although the ax in the root of the tree has been laid
For the one who endures to the end shall be saved

oh death
wheres its sting?
there was some of us you said would never taste this
thing
oh death
wheres its sting?
there was some of us you said would never taste this
thing

CHORUS

You said we'd hear of wars and rumors of wars
but we shouldn't be afraid
earthquake and famine
don't cry my friend
although the ax in the root of the tree has been laid
For the one who endures to the end i said the one who endures to the end well now, the one who endures to the end shall be saved

Visit Waterdeep page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.