Close your eyes, can't control your heart beat
You're desperate, a castaway
A fugitive, [Incomprehensible]

If this is bravery, it still feels like fear
Now you're running for all their paragraphs
You're not a citizen

They can see you unless you drown
They will find you, they will hunt you
Through the darkness that surrounds you

A continent turned to a fortress
The borders all armed to secure it
This looks like a peaceful coast
Except for the dead bodies

All your dreams, better life, torn apart
You're desperate, a castaway
A fugitive

Unless you die they will send you back
They can see you through the darkness
That surrounds you

A continent turned to a fortress
The borders all armed to secure it
This looks like a peaceful coast
Except for the dead bodies

A continent turned to a fortress
The borders all armed to secure it
This looks like a peaceful coast
Except for the dead bodies

A continent turned to a fortress
The borders all armed to secure it

A continent turned to a fortress
The borders all armed to secure it
This looks like a peaceful coast
Except for the dead, except for the dead bodies

A continent turned to a fortress
(Dead bodies)
The borders all armed to secure it
(Dead bodies)
This looks like a peaceful coast
(Dead bodies)
Except for the dead, except for the dead
(Dead bodies)
