So she had to leave I couldn't take no more
Although I loved the girl she's gone
My dreams are full of her but I can't dwell no more
And now I'm back here on my own

I need to let it out she broke my heart again
Although I loved her so I had to let her go
Now it's too late for us I gave my heart and soul
I hope she knows just what she's done

Had some smokin times pretty much the best
When we were good we were on fire
She was so beautiful but wrong inside her head
I really did my best well I know

I need to let it out she broke my heart again
Although I loved her so I had to let her go
Now it's too late for us I gave my heart and soul
I hope she knows just what she's done

I don't hate you girl for what you did
Don't run away that's where you're going wrong
And I still believe you're who you wanna be Just take some time so you can get it right
