My love is hidden from me where the barley feels the rain For the seasons turn above him as his body feeds the grain

Who am I without him Where am I but by his side Will the seasons turn above me
With his body next to mine?

Spin the circle down turn the seasons around me
Spin the circle down
'Til my love is beside me again

I can taste you in the water sweet as honey to my tongue I can hear you whisper through the barley like a song as yet unsung
