When I saw the churches
The stained glass was gone
And the boxes were empty
I wondered how long

When I saw the blind man
Who can't see the sun
He talked of his army
And some war they won

He prayed for the future
And he prayed for the past
And he said his heart still bleeds
For the wife he once had

When I told the blind man
We're all here alone
He said the strong wind
Was taking us home

Taking us home
Taking us home
Taking us home
