You never know who's going to be your love,
Who will call you darling, my baby, my dove
You never know who's going to be your love,
The handsome prince you've always been dreaming of

He threw just a glance at you
Seen it but you never knew
He's gonna be the one
You talked to him once or twice,
Then you thought he's very nice
But sadly you had to run
Once he called you
Just when you felt alone,
You then both knew
It's some feeling unknown...

Now passions overflow
So you know the status quo:
It's certain that you are in love
'Cause your heart always jumps with joy
Every time you see the boy,
His kiss never is enough
You're together every hour of the day,
He just holds you
And clouds all melt away,
You stay...

He throws just a glance at you,
Now you know his love is true
He stole your heart, that's a fact,
Dreams are now reality,
Living life so happily...
You see there's no turning back
You're no princess,
He has no fancy car,
He's not a success
But he can take you far...
