Do you remember living in another world?
Or we were just strangers trying to find ourselves
And move on

You said you won't lie
But truth is been trough
Gonna get by
But my heart's still bleeding for you
Oh, how could you go?
I don't know what I'm holding on

There's a part in me that belongs
I'm feeling it coming, it's gone
I'll always know
There's a part that won't let go
And you tell me that it's wrong
And I should be moving on
It's a steady road
There's a part that won't let go

You tell me you're sorry
That's the way it has to be
While I'm falling into pieces
As I watch you leave and move on

You're taking that part of my heart that you had rip
So high in your arms but I'm starting to slip
Tell this all now that you know
I'm sinking

There's a part in me that belongs
I'm feeling it coming, it's gone
I'll always know
There's a part that won't let go
And you tell me that it's wrong
And I should be moving on
It's a steady road
There's a part that won't let go

Oh, how could you go?
It's over now
But there's a part that won't let go

There's a part in me that belongs
I'm feeling it coming, it's gone
I'll always know
There's a part that won't let go
And you tell me that it's wrong
And I should be moving on
It's a steady road
There's a part that won't let go
