Pierces, The
"It Was You"

Visit "It Was You" on MotoLyrics.com

Well, I've been lying here all alone,
Wondering if you are ever coming home.
I left on the light by the bed
In case, you come to call.
Â«What is wrong with me?Â»
I said, to myself.

I never really thought it would last.
And here I am now fading fast.
But I will not sleep tonight.
No, I could not sleep tonight..

Where would you go?
What would you do?
If it wasn't me, it was you.
Where would you go?
And what would you do?
If it wasn't me, it was you.
If it wasn't me, it was you.

If only you could feel my heart race.
And see the light on my face.
Then you would know the truth
And I would know the truth.

Then maybe you don't like
What I brought.
Well, maybe I am not what you thought.
But don't worry you are not
What I thought you were either.

Where would you go?
What would you do?
If it wasn't me, it was you.
Where would you go?
And what would you do?
If it wasn't me, it was you.
If it wasn't me, it was you.

No matter how hard it gets.
No matter how thick your head is*.

There's always something more to learn
Even if you just want to quit.

Where would you go?
And what would you do?
If it wasn't me, it was you
Where would you go?
And what would you do?
Where would you go?
And what would you do?
Where would you go?
And what would you do?
Where would you go?
And what would you do?
If it wasn't me, it was you.
If it wasn't me, it was you.
If it wasn't me, it was you!