These words may cut you like a razorblade
As we lie awake in this bed we made No one sleeps and there's no counting sheep We only count the secrets that we swore to keep

So don't think about this misery
It's time to fix the broken you and me
It's a lack of courage and lets not forget
All the things that we could be

The brave and the faithless walk the line
where the sidewalk ends
So hold your head up high
and then we'll meet again
Are you brave or faithless

You take the north and I might take the south And we'll dodge the bullets from each other's mouths
There's no winners here it's just a losing fight
As we burn our flags in the cold tonight

So don't think about this misery
It's time to fix the broken you and me
It's a lack of courage and lets not forget
All the things that we could be

The brave and the faithless walk the line
where the sidewalk ends
So hold your head up high
and then we'll meet again
Are you brave or faithless
The road divides for you and me
still the world won't end
What makes it turn and the fire burn are the fuses with no end
Are you brave or faithless

The brave and the faithless walk the line
where the sidewalk ends
So hold your head up high
and then we'll meet again

Are you brave or faithless
The road divides for you and me
still the world won't end
What makes it turn and the fire burn
are the fuses with no end
Are you brave or faithless
