"Chemistry"

We fell in love during lucky weather but it won't stay fall forever
If the winter should freeze your blood you know I'll still burn for you
My bravest wrongs were always right
Without you it's too cold inside

It will take some beautiful imperfections
To make me put down my loaded weapons
Because they said it's something you can't see

It's one more chance, so save the last dance
For someone that looks like me
It's so unfair to say you never cared
Because everything we trust is chemistry

Could this be an accident or we're just victims of circumstance
It's such profound ingenuity
They made a robot that cares for me

All this Technicolor misery
And I'm so over things that try to be So let's make this black and white because it's too much to see

It's one more chance, so save the last dance
For someone that looks like me
It's so unfair to say you never cared
'cause everything we trust is chemistry

It got so cold that it froze your heart
Your chemistry is tearing me apart

It will take some beautiful imperfections
To make me put down my loaded weapons
Because they said it's something you can't see

It's one more chance, so save the last dance
For someone that looks like me
It's so unfair to say you never cared

Because everything is chemistry

It's one more chance, so save the last dance at least someone that looks like me
It's so unfair to say you never cared
Because everything we trust is chemistry
