(Wayne C. Thompson - Rodney Lay)

Something's wrong in California, I can tell by the letter
she don't write Gotta get back to California, something's just not right
in California
I'm stranded in ole New York City, ain't got a nickel to my name
Make my way to California, just the same to California.

Haven't heard from her since late last December I'm so afraid she's forgot to remember to love me Should have left her in California, that's a foolish thing to do Something wrong in California, is she still true in California?

I said I'm sinned for her when I made it I ain't made it and deep inside I'm afraid of this is all over Something's wrong in California, I can tell by the letter
she don't write
Gotta get back to California, something's just not right
in California...
