Slightly broken from the war
Searching in the fallout
Everything's been quiet here for awhile
I hope you're not let down
I can see up ahead
Something at the skyline
Energy runs up and down my spine
I hope it's something new

I'm sure that it won't stay this way
As sure as days come one by one
Sure that all of this will change
And I will make sure it's done as it should be

Tired and cold from the storm
Addicted to the twilight
We ferry back and forth from shore to shore
But never touch dry ground

I'm sure that it won't stay this way
As sure as days come one by one
Confidant that things will change
And I will make sure it's done as it should be
