If I shine and no one's there to see
Was it all in the mind of the one who made me?
And if I fall, do the same hands reach out?
And if I cry, would you come without a doubt and say?

Head up
Let me draw the lines
And point out the fools
And give a little more time

'Cause all I have is all I need
Sounds good until I'm on my knees
Would you pick me up and put me back in place?
From a feeling inside born from an honest look on my face and say

Head up
And let me draw the lines
Point out the fools
And give a little more time

Oh head up
Let me heal this wound
And mend a heart
Well that was torn too, torn too soon

Oh head up
And let me draw the lines
Point out the fools
And give a little more time

Oh head up
Let me heal this wound
And mend a heart
That was torn too, torn too soon

Torn too soon
Torn too soon
Torn too soon
Torn too soon
