You don't need to worry so
My love for you will always be
We could be together for all time dear
If you will give your heart to me

Tonight the rain is coming down
I've pained to see it for so long
Your love to me is like the raindrops
That fall until the drought is gone

I've drifted all across this land
Forever searching for a home
To be without a woman's sweet touch
Is the saddest feeling that I've known

But now my sorrow's washed away
The joy in this new home I've found
My heart is just a sea of greener pastures
And tonight the rain is coming down

Tonight the rain is coming down
I've pained to see it for so long
Your love to me is like the raindrops
That fall until the drought is gone

Your love to me is like the raindrops
That fall until the drought is gone
