(Music : Thomas Koppel . Words : Annisette)

Waking up one early morning
The spring sun's reaching in
No more dripping from the ceiling
I kiss your tender skin
I snuggle close to you
How lucky one can be
Lying in your arms baby
With the night of love
Still singing within
Maybe the world out there
Has the same dreams as you and me
I look into your eyes baby
Share all I have with you
The ice flowers on our window pane
So quietly they melt away
I'm lying in your arms baby
With the night of love
