

Plain End

"Farewell Mexico"

Visit "Farewell Mexico" on MotoLyrics.com

I think it started out with a kick
try to tell this one vividly
how i broke you in two and that it's me framing you
And yes I know, that shame goes right through you,
just like air
Borrowed a second second just to declare, it's the end of this love affair

And no, you don't know : the game don't suit you, but you don't care!
But first things first : What can we do, do we dare?
Frankly, I don't give a damn

Farewell my goodbye
It's time to break right
It's sad that you don't even try

Farewell my goodbye
next time try think twice before you choose another fight

[Scream]
Now Listen!
The remains ones lost are found.
One step away from solid ground.
Our world crashes beneath our feats.
As we roll away between our sheets.
We're killing time in front of a TV.
Where our innocence gets sold away.
All I want is to be free.
But the freedom you give is choking me.
[Scream]

I think it started out with a kiss....

Visit Plain End page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.