Maybe I'll keep driving through this pouring rain
Though the fog is clouding almost everything
I watch the wipers sway
Everything's gonna be okay

But I need some new direction now
And I just can't wait anymore
When that connection breaks
I'll step into the revolving door
Revolving door

And maybe the rain will cause my wheels to slide
Yeah, but I don't worry about anything
I push those thoughts aside
Everything's gonna be alright

And maybe when the clouds have vanished from the skies
And the sun is shining out on everything
I'll cast my cares aside
And get lost in my mind

I need some new direction now
And I just can't wait anymore
When that connection breaks
I'll step into the revolving door
Revolving door
