I never told you what you needed to hear
That's so untrue
You said it never even looked like i cared
Well, how about you?

How could i forget you were the one who jumped the gun?
Have you thought about that before?

Blue coat, black hair
My body's all right but my mind is just a bit unaware
You can't justify yourself
This time you went overboard
Tonight, i'm fine
I think i'll go out after writing off a piece of my mind
And here's a pen to cross my name out

I gave you every single thing i could give Flowers at your door
And all the notes and cards and dinners to spare will be no more
I hope that you don't forget tomorrow night you're on your own
You and a million regrets alone

Blue coat, black hair
My body's all right but my mind is just a bit unaware
You can't justify yourself
This time you went overboard
Tonight, i'm fine
I think i'll go out after writing off a piece of my mind
And here's a pen to cross my name

You threw me out into an ocean
I gave you nothing but devotion
Love never forgets what it's like to be alone
I hope you'll think about that at home

Blue coat, black hair
My body's all right but my mind is just a bit unaware
You can't justify yourself

This time you went overboard
Tonight, i'm fine
I think i'll go out after writing off a piece of my mind
And here's a pen to cross my name out
