Brazil, where hearts were entertaining you,
We stood beneath an amber moon
And softly whispered one day soon...
We kissed and clung together

Then - tomorrow was another day
The morning found us miles away
With still a million things to say.
And now, as twilight moves the sky above
Recalling thrills of our love
There's one thing I'm certain of...
Return, I will, to old Brazil.

Brazil, where hearts were entertaining you,
We stood beneath an amber moon
And softly whispered one day soon...
We kissed and clung together

Then - tomorrow was another day
The morning found us miles away
With still a million things to say.
And now as twilight moves the sky above
Recalling thrills of our love
There's one thing I'm certain of
Return, I will, to old Brazil.
Brazil.
