And when I take the stand call your witness

I'll tell you who I am, another mockery

Will tell your people I figure I just don't know

What you bottle up inside and that's my story to tell

You'll never know

You'll never know

You'll never know what I've found

Talk about it on Saturday

Hear the words and hear them till they go away

And all these dreams you've had

Will tell me something I figure I you just don't know

What you bottled up inside that's what it means to me

You'll never know

You'll never know

You'll never know what I've found

And when I take the stand call your witness

I'll tell you who I am, another mockery

Will tell your people I figure I just don't know

What you bottle up inside and that's my story to tell

You'll never know

You'll never know

You'll never know what I've found
