I can manage your impressions
Or care for the intentions
I can almost avoid

Should I ever fail to mention
I'm in need of your attention
So I can give you a choice
Without hearing hesitation
In my voice

If I could hear your voice
Completely separated
From the noise

You must have so many questions
Second thoughts of your reflection
That got lost on the way
To protection from the things that I might say

I want to hear your voice
Completely separated from the noise
I want to hear your voice
Completely separated from the noise
If I could hear your voice
Completely separated from the noise
