"Tale And Creed"

I stand naked in this room
Alone, if not with You
Selfless words and damaged pride
Feel this feeling I can't hide

An ever-changing host of dreams
Wakes me out of all this noise
Over tones of righteousness
Make me want You

I want more to love
To save it in this changing child
To see a passion saved in Majesty

To cast out all these empty fears
Renew a trust lost to my tears
Make this a widowed bride of hate
Begin a new work in my mind

A chore awaits You in this child
A soul and heart for You to clean
A swollen image of myself
A burning refuge

I am born to love
We lose the memory of old
To be a passion saved
I want more to love
To save it in this changing child
To see a passion saved in Majesty
