

Ween "Transitions"

Visit "Transitions" on MotoLyrics.com

Got a static, universal saturation in the grip of the morning sun
The greatest soldier that erodes all the orders
And the door men when the day is done

Hop the dingle on the ferry
Takes you back to the dimension that's just begun
Riding the crystal of communion to a union
Harry Truman is the poor lady's son and he says

Got a static, universal saturation in the grip of the
morning sun
The greatest soldier that erodes all the orders
And the door men when the day is done

Hop the dingle on the ferry
Takes you back to the dimension that's just begun
Riding the crystal of communion to a union
Harry Truman is the poor lady's son and he says

Got a static, universal saturation in the grip of the
morning sun
The greatest soldier that erodes all the orders
And the door men when the day is done

Hop the dingle on the ferry
Takes you back to the dimension that's just begun
Riding the crystal of communion, it's a union
Harry Truman is the poor lady's son and he says

Visit Ween page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.