Do you disapprove? Alright, you made your point
You don't have to choose right now
I don't have the time to stop into that joint
No one wants to see my face there anyhow

Monday come like Tuesday
You were something else, I will admit
I remember what you told me
Only wish I could forget
Only wish I could forget

Standing in the sun smoking quiet cigarettes
Just before I let you down
Funny how a heart shatters all at once
Seems like it should make a sound

Monday come like Tuesday
You were something else, I will admit

I remember what you told me
Only wish I could forget
Only wish I could forget

Too much to ask, for just one kiss
You'll never know what I will miss

Guess I'm getting old wandering this way
Wondering what's wrong and right
You try to move along but the traffic holds you still
Or did I lose the will to fight?

Monday come like Tuesday
You were something else, I will admit
I remember what you told me
Only wish I could forget
Only wish I could forget
